To whom it may concern,

I have known Joe Sleiman and Chris Zaarour of ZS Constructions since 2006. In that time they have project managed building of townhouses for my family company and have also consulted them over numerous building/property issues. I have seen many of their works and found the workmanship to be of absolute highest quality.

In all the time that I have known them, I have found them to be professional, fair, honest, and always have the best interests of the client at heart. As a sign of my high regard for them, I have engaged them to start rebuilding my parent's house without getting a quote from another builder.

Yours sincerely,
